COACHING STAFF

HEAD COACH
SHAWN RENEE
POLK
Sixth Season
Massachusetts '93

Shawn Renee Polk, who has gained a reputation as one of the better young coaches in the Boston area, became UMass Boston's 10th women's basketball coach in August 1998. Now in her sixth year at the helm of the Beacons' program, she has brought in a core of players that have helped UMass Boston become one of the top programs in the region under her guidance. In each of her five seasons, the Beacons have shown improvement every year and become one of the Little East Conference's top teams.

Polk came to UMass Boston with extensive experience in the Boston basketball circles. She spent two seasons as the head coach at Roxbury Community College and has worked with a number of local basketball organizations.

Polk has established herself as an active leader in sports and athletics in the city of Boston. She is the former Director of the highly regarded Boston Neighborhood Basketball League (BNBL), the city's oldest youth basketball league. She oversaw all operations of the entire league, including 22 sites with over 3,000 boys and girls between the ages of 11-19. She was also the sports director at the YMCA in Boston for two years, a physical education teacher for the City on A Hill Charter School in Boston and has worked as an event manager and a coach with the Bay State Games.

A 1993 graduate of UMass Amherst with a bachelor's degree in sport management, Polk also serves as the facilities scheduling coordinator for the UMass Boston athletic department. She is a resident of Dorchester.

ASSISTANT COACH
DERREK KING

Derrek King returns to the Beacons' staff for his fourth season as Coach Polk's top assistant.

Along with coaching at UMass Boston, King has also gained experience coaching in the AAU ranks, directing the Future Stars of Metro Boston and serving as a mentor for the Squires and Shoot Straight basketball programs.

King played his college basketball at Roxbury Community College and was an All-State and All-City guard at Jamaica Plain High School, where he was also Boston's leading scorer during his junior and senior seasons. The Roxbury, MA resident was JPHS' basketball team's MVP and captain in his final two seasons as well.

ASSISTANT COACH
CHRISTINE BONATTI

Christine Bonatti begins her third season on the Beacons' staff after starring at Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts as an undergraduate.

Bonatti was a four-year letterwinner for the Mohawks basketball squad, as well as the team's Most Valuable Player three seasons and captain for two years. Bonatti's skills weren't limited to the court as she earned four letters for the Mohawks' women's soccer team as well. The native of Northford, CT was named team captain for her senior campaign and earned MVP honors as well as Second Team All-MASCAC Honors. Bonatti was tabbed to the MASCAC's Second Team for her junior season as well.

Bonatti graduated in 2000 with a degree in English.

ASSISTANT COACH
MICHAEL J. PARETCHAN

After three seasons as a coach with the boys and girls' basketball programs at Foxboro High School, two years at Wayland High School and a year at Weymouth High School, Michael J. Paretchan came back to UMass Boston in 2001-02, armed with a wealth of coaching experience.

The 1999 UMass Boston magna cum laude graduate, was a three-sport athlete for nearby Boston College High School, playing basketball, football and baseball.

Paretchan has coached club and travel baseball teams in the basketball off-season and is a resident of Weymouth, MA.

SEASON OUTLOOK

For the first time in three years, the Beacons will have a new opponent on their schedule -- inexperience. UMass Boston returns just 16% of its scoring output from last season with the loss of some of the greatest players in school history to graduation. Although, the Beacons are young, with youth comes expectations and hope. UMass Boston is also fortunate to have talented newcomers, who should form the foundation of many successful seasons to come, and a head coach, who is not a stranger to molding a program into a winner.

Backcourt

The Beacons experience will be in the backcourt with lone senior, Indya Mitchell (Weymouth, MA) returning for her second full playing season for UMass Boston. Mitchell joined the team during last year's second semester and immediately established herself as a lethal three-point threat, leading the squad with 38 trifectas, while averaging 8.0 points per game in 19 outings. She will be counted on to step up as the team's main scorer and again as an outside threat.

Sophomore point guard Elmina Darville (Randolph, MA) also returns after a solid rookie season. She averaged 4.4 points and 1.7 assists last year, while starting 16 of 26 games. She will be counted on much more this season to handle the ball and run the offense, while providing more scoring punch.

Coming into the fold for the Beacons are a solid group of guards, who bring many different elements to the program. Freshman Lauren Bertolini (Danville, VT) comes to Boston after a nice career at Danville High School, where she led all divisions in assists and helped DHS to the Division IV State championship. Her quickness and great hands should give UMB a solid defensive presence at the guard spot. Classmate Kristen Reske (Duxbury, MA) is a smart, versatile player who can shoot the three. She will be counted on to give the Beacons some scoring off the bench, while vying for a starting role. Freshman Ashley Greene (Brookline, MA) will look for time at the point, where her passing ability and speed will be on display. She will also look to add some offense with her ability to drive to the hoop.

Freshman guard Lauren Bertolini will give the Beacons solid defense from the guard spot.

Sophomore Amy Ouellette (Pembroke, MA) returns after gaining a valuable year of experience and will look to contribute once again to UMass Boston in any way that she can, while newcomer Aregash Gelaw (Cambridge, MA) has great promise and will look to develop into an impact player, while competing for time in the backcourt.

Frontcourt

The Beacons greatest task will be replacing their losses in the front court after graduating two of the finest players to ever put on a uniform here.

Freshman forward Erin Towne (Taunton, MA) is a versatile forward with the ability to play inside and out. She will fight for a starting spot and should help to give UMass Boston a presence on the boards and also be counted on for her scoring ability as well. Towne will be joined in the blocks by Denise B. Ridge (Milton, MA) who should give the Beacons another offensive weapon. She has great court sense and a quick release on her shot and should be able to score from anywhere on the court as well as pull down key rebounds. Sophomore center Agata Matel (Dorchester, MA) is a transfer from Rhode Island Community College and should help UMass Boston right away. Her 6'3" frame makes her an intimidating force in the middle for the Beacons and should provide UMB with an invaluable shot-blocker, who can also rebound extremely well and score. Sophomore Danielle Jones (Malden, MA) transferred from UMass Dartmouth, where she averaged 5.6 points and 3.8 rebounds per game. A well-rounded player, she should do a little bit of everything for the Beacons. Her quickness and ability to anticipate should make her a defensive stopper and her ability to score will also be an asset. Freshman forward Kimaada Haygood (Roxbury, MA) missed all of last year with an injury, but retains all four years of eligibility. After a year of learning UMass Boston's system, she will be better suited to contribute in the front court for the Beacons. A versatile player, she will compete for minutes off the bench.

Freshman forward Denise B. Ridge should provide offense under the hoop for UMB.

When the Beacons go on the road, they use ...

The Boston Globe

Your world, unfolding daily.™

The Little East Conference was formed in 1986. However, the seed for the conference was planted in 1984 in a meeting held at the University of Massachusetts Boston.

The underlying concern of the group was to form a basketball-playing conference with a long-range goal of securing automatic bids to the NCAA Division III men's and women's basketball championships. After a second meeting, invitations were extended to those institutions with interest in joining a conference. Eastern Connecticut State University, University of Massachusetts Boston, Plymouth State College, Rhode Island College, Southeastern Massachusetts University (now known as the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth) and the University of Southern Maine joined as charter members to form the Little East Conference. Western Connecticut State University was accepted into the conference in the fall of 1991, and Keene State College joined the league for the 1997-98 season.

Following the NCAA's mandatory two-year waiting period, the Little East Conference was awarded an automatic bid to the Division III men's and women's basketball championships for the 1988-89 season. The Little East Conference's success against non-conference competition in both regular-season and post-season play was a major factor in its being accorded automatic qualification so quickly. The conference's representatives to the NCAA tournaments are determined via the annual post-season conference tournament, to which each league team qualifies.

Since its formation, the Little East has seen its members ranked number one in national pre-season men's and women's polls, reach the NCAA Women's Final Four and the NCAA Men's Final Four. The women's squads have sent at least two teams to the NCAA tournament in four of the last six years, including the past three seasons.

In addition to men's and women's basketball, the Little East offers league play in baseball, softball, men's and women's soccer, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's tennis, men's and women's lacrosse, field hockey and women's volleyball.

UMass Boston Tip-Off Tournament

^ Grand Canyon Classic

+ Little East Conference Tournament quarterfinal

The University of Massachusetts Boston was established in 1964 to provide the opportunity for superior education at moderate cost to the people of greater Boston.

Starting out in a downtown Boston location, the university moved to its current 175-acre campus on the Columbia Point peninsula in 1974 and merged with Boston State College in 1982. A commuter school, UMass Boston is nationally recognized as a model of excellence for urban universities.

UMass Boston enrolled 12,719 students in the 2002-2003 academic year, with 10,071 undergraduate students and 2,648 graduate students comprising a multicultural and diverse student body. Students of all ages are enrolled at UMass Boston and students of color make up 31 percent of the university's undergraduate enrollment.

UMass Boston's five colleges offer 73 undergraduate majors, 30 master's programs, and 14 doctoral programs, while the university's 12 institutes and centers are actively involved in research, professional public service and community outreach. More than 290 active research and training grants attracted $30.5 million in external funds for the fiscal year 2003. The university employs 850 distinguished faculty members, including Lloyd Schwartz, winner of the Pulitzer Prize for Criticism.

Located in the Boston community of Dorchester, UMass Boston offers excellent views of downtown Boston, the Harbor Islands and Dorchester Bay. UMass Boston shares its campus with the John F. Kennedy Library, which offers its archival resources to UMass Boston students and instructors. The university's own Healey Library is an information gateway to more than 600,000 books and journals on campus and to thousands of electronic information resources on the Internet.

Other academic facilities include the biology department's three greenhouses, which host collections of plant species native to tropical, desert and temperate climates, and The Learning Center, a professional development and technology facility for faculty and staff, which opened in 1996.

The Clark Athletic Center is home to UMass Boston's varsity athletics program and features a 3,500-seat arena, a hockey arena that seats 1,000, and a swimming and diving facility equipped for intercollegiate competition. The Beacon Fitness Center is equipped with more than 25 cardiovascular machines, a universal weight machine, 16 Nautilus stations and free weights. The Fitness Center also houses two racquetball courts, a squash court, an aerobics room, a walking track and a two-level lounge.

The newest major addition to the UMass Boston landscape will be the Campus Center — a $50 million project which will centralize student services and activities. The project broke ground in July of 2001.

WHY UMASS BOSTON?

There's no doubt. The city of Boston and the surrounding area boast many of the world's finest institutions of higher learning. And UMass Boston is one of them. Here's why you should consider UMass Boston.

 UMass Boston is a member of the Little East Conference, which is unquestionably one of the top Division III conferences in the nation.

 Aside from providing a competitive playing environment, the UMB athletic department also doubles as a place where students can receive hands-on training in nearly all facets of athletics administration.

 At UMass Boston, you learn from the best. A faculty with more Harvard Ph.Ds than any school in the United States (except Harvard).

 UMass Boston has won four NCAA Division III national championships, 19 individual national titles and has seen 21 different athletes achieve All-America status a total of 94 times.

 Our home, the Clark Athletic Center, is one of the best Division III athletic facilities in New England.

 UMass Boston is the only four-year, state-supported institution inside the Interstate 95 beltway.

 Students have the opportunity to commute from home or live off-campus with teammates.

 We're located just three miles from downtown Boston with all of the city's major attractions easily accessible from the campus.

Academic Advising

At UMass Boston we prepare our students for life.

And because the life of a college student can be much more challenging than a basketball game or a soccer match, the UMass Boston athletic department provides you with the means to be successful in whatever sport you play, and also in the game of life.

UMass Boston's academic advising center for student athletes is designed to help each Beacon athlete in every sport complete his or her undergraduate degree. We make sure that our students are not solely concerned with maintaining athletic eligibility. We work extensively with the faculty and professional staff on-campus, and we help our students with course selection, advising and counseling, and career and graduate school exploration.

When you enroll at UMass Boston, you will get to know your advisor quite well. One of our primary focuses is freshman-year retention, so we are highly motivated in your first year to work with you to develop a plan for academic success. Your advisor will meet with you on a one-to-one basis and introduce you to the Clark Athletic Center's computer lab--a fully equipped facility open exclusively to UMB student-athletes.

Your academic advisor will also work with your professors. Your instructors will update the athletic department with progress reports, and when you are having trouble, they will let us know. But more importantly, they'll let us know how we can help you.

As a student athlete at UMass Boston you will have unique opportunities to represent the University on a national level and in national programs.

Sports Medicine

Quite simply, the sports medicine center at UMass Boston is one of the best in the area. It combines the best facility with the best people -- all with the goal of keeping Beacon student-athletes healthy.

The sports medicine room falls under the direction of head athletic trainer Ed Perkins, a UMass Boston graduate and former athlete with the Beacons. Before taking over at UMB, Ed worked with the nationally ranked men's basketball team at Temple University before returning to Division III athletics at MIT and at Bridgewater State College.

A.J. Rourke, a certified athletic trainer in her own right, is the university's assistant athletic trainer. A.J.'s credentials include a stint with Marietta College, where she worked with the nationally ranked baseball program, and she continues to spend the summer working with top major league baseball prospects in the prestigious Cape Cod League.

What that means to you is that when you become a member of the Beacons, you are in the safest environment possible. Whether it be injury prevention, evaluation, treatment, or rehabilitation, the training staff at UMass Boston is looking out for you.

Before you are eligible for competition, you will be required to undergo a thorough physical examination. You will be monitored throughout the training phase and competitive season. And the training staff works closely with your head coach to make your participation in Beacon athletics as safe as it can be.

To ensure quality individual care, the training staff regularly acquires the latest and most effective modalities. The sports medicine center at UMass Boston is equipped with a four-channel electrical stimulation with combination ultrasound unit, a paraffin bath, two hydrocollator units, a Jobst compression unit and a whirlpool bath.

Strength & Conditioning

The University of Massachusetts Boston is one of the few NCAA III schools in the country to offer a year round strength and conditioning program.

The varsity weight room is designed to improve all areas of athletic performance for all sports. The strength and conditioning coach is a certified professional. The focus is to educate and train athletes on how to properly execute exercises that will allow them to be more efficient with the sports specific movements and enable them to participate with a reduced chance of injury. Our goal is to produce athletes who are faster, stronger and more powerful, in order for them to compete at their highest level.

The student athlete at UMass Boston has a wealth of athletic and recreational facilities available within the confines of the Clark Athletic Center.

The athletic center has served as the home of the Beacon basketball program since its completion in 1981.

Named for Catherine Forbes Clark, a former trustee of the University of Massachusetts system and prominent Dorchester civic leader, the Clark Athletic Center emulates its namesake by serving the University community as well as area residents throughout the year.

Considered one of the finest athletic and recreational facilities in Greater Boston, the complex accommodates the school's 14 intercollegiate sports and extensive intramural program. The Center's building houses a main gymnasium, which includes a 3,500-seat basketball arena along with three auxiliary basketball courts and two volleyball courts, a 1,000-seat ice rink, and an Olympic-size swimming pool with a high-dive area, six 25-yard lanes and an observation deck. A weight room, creative and combative rooms and a sports medicine area round out the interior of the structure.

Outside the building, UMass Boston boasts an eight-lane 400-meter track, eight tennis courts, a softball diamond and two multipurpose fields primarily used for soccer and lacrosse. The outdoor facilities also include a boathouse and dock for the sailing program as well as several recreational fields.

In addition to extensive use by the intercollegiate and intramural programs, the Clark Athletic Center serves as the site for numerous community activities. Included in the list of community activities are a variety of events for both youth and the physically challenged.

UMass Boston hosts the National Youth Sports Program, an NCAA-sponsored summer camp for inner-city youth, as well as the Dana Barros Basketball Camp, the All Dorchester Sports League, the Boston Youth Games, the Boston Housing Authority Jamboree, the Bay State Games and MIAA state tournament games in soccer, ice hockey and basketball.

The athletic center became the new home of the Boston Shootout, the premier high school basketball tournament in the nation, in 1997 and has served as a workout facility for the Boston Celtics and the 2000 McDonald's All-American High School Basketball team, while also serving as the site of the Sprite Slam Jam. During the summer of 1999, the center began hosting the Shaw's Summer Pro League, featuring current and future stars of the NBA. The center also hosts the Indiana Pacers and San Antonio

Spurs during the NBA season, serving as a practice site for both of those teams on their visits to Boston.

The Clark Athletic Center saw its most excitement for 2000 in just one night when on October 3rd, the University hosted the first United States Presidential Debate of 2000. When the parties finally agreed to the Boston debate, the event was suddenly only two weeks away. In that time frame the Clark Athletic Center had to be converted into a debate hall and the adjacent hockey rink into a media center, replete with red carpet, approximately 700 phones, more than 70 televisions, and accommodations for almost 1,600 media representatives from around the world.

UMass Boston also boasts one of the finest personal fitness facilities in the area in the Beacon Fitness Center. The state-of-the-art recreational area provides students, faculty and staff with modern equipment in a clean environment.

The fitness center offers cardiovascular machines, nautilus and free weights, squash and racquetball courts, a walking track and aerobics.

Intercollegiate athletics, intramurals and recreation for students, staff and faculty are the primary programs of the UMass Boston Department of Athletics. The department offers 14 varsity sports and is a member of the NCAA's Division III. UMass Boston has teams competing in the ECAC, the Little East Conference and ECAC East Ice Hockey. Ninety-three Beacons in seven sports have been named All-Americans. The women's indoor and outdoor track and field teams had an outstanding record of achievement, including four NCAA Team Championships and 37 individual NCAA Championships.

But the Department of Athletics has another important concern as well--service to the community. Whether it's complimentary use of the University's athletic facilities, coaches' and student athletes' sports clinics for youth groups, or holiday visits to area hospitals, UMass Boston Athletics is in the forefront of serving area neighborhoods and communities throughout the state.

- More than 150 school, charitable, government and private organizations use UMass Boston athletic facilities each year at little or no cost.
- Over 100,000 people visit our athletic facilities each year, as participants or spectators.
- UMass Boston's indoor and outdoor athletic facilities are in use by visitors for over 2100 hours each year.
- In 2001 the National Consortium for Academics and Sports named the Department of Athletics at UMass Boston as # 1 in the country for Community Service.

UMass Boston is in a unique position as the only public university in the City of Boston. For that reason, the University has a responsibility above and beyond its mission to provide a superior higher education at moderate cost to the people of the metropolitan area. Because of its urban environment and its spacious, coastline location, the University can reach out to its neighbors and provide first rate facilities for healthy, stimulating sports and recreational activities.

National Consortium for Academics and Sports member institutions develop Outreach and Community Service programs with current student-athletes and former student-athletes from the Degree Completion Program. Over the last fourteen years, NCAS member institutions, through their outreach and community service programs, have reached 9.4 million youth nationwide with messages about violence prevention, gender sensitivity, conflict resolution, the importance of academics and athletics, staying in school, the dangers of drugs and alcohol, and much more. Since 1985, NCAS student-athletes have given over 6.5 million hours of community service.

There is no one way to conduct school outreach programs. It is clear from the great work done by NCAS members that there are many ways to provide quality programs. Their diversity and contributions to our nation is extraordinary.

NCAA CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS

The 2000-01 school year marked the department's first year as a member of the NCAA's CHAMPS/Life Skills program. Presently, 323 institutions and six conference offices now participate in this NCAA supported life skills program. The NCAA mission of CHAMPS/Life Skills is "committed to a comprehensive program that provides educational experience and services in order to develop well balanced lifestyles for student-athletes; to encourage growth in decision making, planning and fulfillment of career and life goals."

The CHAMPS/Life Skills program will be presented this year at UMB through the development of workshops/guest speakers that address identified life skill needs in the five commitment areas of this program.

As part of our membership in CHAMPS/Life Skills, each year one of four student athlete nominees will attend the NCAA Foundation Leadership Conference.

STUDENT ATHLETE ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC) is comprised of student athlete representatives from each of UMass Boston's teams. The purpose of the organization is to promote all UMB sports and provide student athletes an opportunity to impact those issues that affect their daily lives.

SAAC is the student athlete's voice and their vehicle to implement new ideas and influence positive change to enhance the student-athlete experience at UMass Boston.

Members of each team will nominate and select an eligible student athlete to represent their sport on the SAAC. An alternate will also be selected, in the event that the designated representative cannot attend a meeting. It is expected that each team will be represented at every scheduled meeting/event.

Throughout the year, student athletes are encouraged to communicate ideas and concerns to the respective representative of their sport.

BEACON TRADITION

Retired Number

In the history of UMass Boston women's basketball, no one player has had the all-around effect on the program as Eileen Fenton.

33

Fenton is the only player in school history to have been named Little East Conference player of the year. She was a two-time selection to the Little East all-star team and was an honorable mention selection as a sophomore.

In addition to her impact at the conference and regional levels, Fenton left UMass Boston as the holder of 14 university records. Her scoring record of 1,516 career points was surpassed in 1997 by Linda Caruso, but Fenton still owns the Beacons' career rebounding record with 1,220 boards. She is the only player in school history to have amassed at least 1,000 points and 1,000 rebounds in her career.

In recognition of Fenton's accomplishments, her framed number 33 jersey hangs above the awards display in the Clark Athletic Center, and no other Beacon women's basketball player will wear that number.

Fenton is one of only three Beacon athletes to have a retired number. John "Boo" Rice of the men's basketball team had his number 5 retired, while men's soccer All-America Carlos Fernandes' number 7 joined the ranks in 1997.

Nickname and Colors

Looking to establish an identity for UMass Boston's athletic program, the athletic department staff selected Beacons as the University nickname, and royal blue and white as the school colors in the mid-1970s.

The nickname was chosen because UMass Boston sits on Boston Harbor, where lighthouses dot the coastline. The most renowned lighthouse in Boston Harbor, or the rest of the country for that matter, is Boston Light. Located at the entrance to the harbor, the structure has guided ships to safe harbor since first illuminating its beacon in 1716. The British destroyed Boston Light in 1776, but Governor John Hancock had the lighthouse rebuilt in 1781.

On September 23, 2002, UMass Boston introduced a "new" Beacon and changed its colors to Beacon Blue, Black and White.

History of the Beacon

Seeing the light

For centuries, beacons have guided ships in the most perilous waters to safety. Quite often, a Beacon was the only light sailors could see in the black of night. The light was reassuring. Hopeful. Sustaining. It helped ships stay the course. A beacon of light has since become synonymous with any source of guidance and inspiration. The word "beacon" became part of the heritage of the City of Boston in the 1780's, when a beacon stood on what is now called Beacon Hill. Today, Beacon Hill, the most historic and elegant neighborhood in the city, is recognized as the essence of Old Boston.

Lighting the Way

Paul Finnegan, one of the first administrators of athletics at the University of Massachusetts, Boston, recognized the symbolic importance of the beacon. In fact, he became a beacon in his own right. In the early 1970's, Finnegan established intramural and recreational athletics for UMass Boston Students at the university's first campus in Park Square, with programs on the Boston Common and at the Greater Boston YMCA. Knowing that the campus would be built on Boston Harbor, where beacons guide ships from all over the world, Finnegan believed a beacon would be the ideal symbol to represent UMass Boston and its athletic teams.

Shine On

With good reason. The beacon is a symbol of hope and guidance. As a light that is never extinguished, it represents a constant. A promise that, if you persevere, you will reach your destination. As the city's only public university, UMass Boston guides students to a better future. It offers promise to those associated with the university that they can shine. Rise above. Realize their hopes and dreams. It reflects UMass Boston Athletics. UMass Boston athletic teams have been known as the Beacons since 1974. In 1982, an official logo was rendered. It remained for almost 20 years but this friendly cartoon character failed to capture the drive and determination of UMass Boston's athletics. However, the new Beacon logo does exactly that. And more.

Our logo, like our program, conveys light, strength and endurance. We have an intensity of focus, a relentless pursuit to achieve. We endure in the darkest of outlooks. With a substantial international student-athlete population, we are a beacon for diversity. In fact, we are the only institution in the country with a Beacon as its mascot. Appropriately, this is UMass Boston, a university like no other.
